Notes: Sue Schultz, the previous Town of Onalaska Clerk, was present to clarify questions. Sandra Servais, an absentee voter, was marked as returned absentee envelope on the absentee log; however, no absentee envelope was found and a voter number was not given to the voter. The Canvass Board decided it may have been marked in error. Robert J. Osweiler, an absentee voter, returned his absentee envelope. He was given a voter number and the number was crossed out on both poll books. The absentee envelope noted “Open, remark my ballot”. Sue Schultz indicated that the voter had called her in regards to his ballot. He stated he used white-out and to remake the ballot if the Eagle machine would not read the ballot. The other note on the envelope stated “We did not use his ballot. The inspector tore it up and couldn’t find it.” Sue checked with the Chief Inspector for the Town of Onalaska. The Chief Inspector confirmed that the ballot was torn up before being remade and placed in with the other destroyed ballots. The Town of Onalaska put all the spoiled ballots from the day of election in the spoiled ballot envelope instead of just the remade absentee ballots. The ballot could not be determined from the pile of spoiled ballots. Therefore, his ballot was not counted and his number was taken away. This made a difference for the absentee ballot applications and ballots found. The Canvass Board noticed improperly marked ballots and may have caused the ballot not to be read by the Eagle machine. After separating and hand counting the ballots, Joanne F. Kloppenburg-941 votes, David T. Prosser, Jr.-907 votes, and 38 blank ballots, 2-write-ins (legitimate names), 1-write-in not a legitimate name, and 2-write-ins “no name”. Notes:  Nikki Elsen, City of La Crosse Deputy Clerk, was present to clarify questions.  There was a challenged ballot for absentee ballot of John Wisneski. A summary of the conversation was attached to the Inspector's Statement. In summary, the conversation stated that the wife, Mary Wisneski, voted on behalf of her husband. She marked the ballot according to his political preference and knowledge of being married to him for many years. He did not make any of the decisions on the ballot. He did not vote the ballot. The wife voted.  Ross Hein from the Government Accountability Board was contacted on Saturday, April 30, 2011, in regards to the "challenged" ballot. He stated that only a judge can determine a person competent.  The Canvass Board made the decision to pull and "not" count the challenged ballot, due to the fact from the typed summary conversation from Teri Lehrke the City of La Crosse Clerk. They did not feel this ballot had nothing to do with the competency of the voter, but rather the wife voted the ballot, not the husband.  The Canvass Board did notice some ballots marked with blue ink that may have not been read by the Eagle machine.  After separating and hand counting the ballots, Joanne F. Kloppenburg-731 votes and David T. Prosser, Jr.-367 votes; and 9 blank ballots and 2 write-ins 1-legitimate name and 1 "no name". Total ballots counted-1109
