

interactive communication concerning political change during which First Amendment protection is at its zenith.

III. CONCLUSION

- 8. For the foregoing reasons, the Respondent asks that the sworn complaint be dismissed.
- 9. Respondent also asks that the Wisconsin Election Commission find the complaint to be frivolous as it relates to the residency of those individuals circulating nominating papers and assess a $500 penalty against the Complainant. The frivolous nature of the complaint is evidenced by Complainant's decision to ignore a well-settled area of the law, wasting time and resources of the State of Wisconsin.

I, Adam Chewning, being duly sworn on oath state that I personally read the above response and that the statements are true based on my personal knowledge, and as to those stated in information and belief, I believe them to be true.

FURTHER AFFIANT SAYETH NOT.
